

Summer Building Improvements

Welcome back to school! We've been working hard to make some upgrades while you were away. Building improvements include new automatic doors at the front entrance, and a brand new study area in the periodicals section on the second floor.

Get in Your Zone!

Library spaces are now divided into three "zones":

-  Collaborative—Use low voices in these areas
-  Quiet—Whisper in these areas
-  Silent—No talking, cellphone, or noise

Look for signs and posters designating zone locations.

Research Commons Collections

We now have a faculty publications display in the first floor commons area. The display features recent books and articles published by UR faculty. In addition, non-fiction and mystery recreational reading books have been moved to the first floor commons (fiction remains upstairs).

Textbook Policy

In general, Boatwright Library does not own copies of textbooks, nor do we request textbooks through interlibrary loan. Please feel free to check the library catalog, but if we do not have the text for your class, you will most likely need to purchase it.
